

Driver Hire - Available Franchises Territories

Driver Hire is one of the UK's top franchises – an established franchise which offers comprehensive training and dedicated support to each new franchisee. Our list below shows both our current start-up and our established franchise re-sales

A start-up franchise is one where we don't currently have a Driver Hire office set up in that postcode defined area. This area may currently be covered by neighbouring offices until the franchise for sale is bought and a new franchisee joins our successful network. The start-up franchise fee is £32,000.

A franchise re-sale is when an established, existing franchisee who wishes to sell, usually to either retire, or move on to their next challenge. The purchase price of a re-sale will always be more than our start-up franchise fee of £32,000, because you are investing in the goodwill of the business (their current customers and candidates), which will provide an income from the day you take over.

Our Driver Hire Franchise Team is looking for potential franchisees with good organisational and people skills, and the discipline to work within a structured environment, where legislative compliance is important. They will be happy to discuss with you, in more detail, our list of franchises for sale, to help you decide on the best options for you.

At Driver Hire we understand that when deciding on buying a franchise for sale there is a lot to take on board so get in touch today to find out about The Driver Hire Franchise Enquiry Process and Driver Hire Support
